These 51 recipes are the ones my children grew up with. When they were young we had a limited income so I had to make things go a long way with a little bit of money. Luckily I had a pretty good imagination and that my kids were hungry enough to eat what I made (most of the time.) These recipes aren't anything special, just something I had to put together with little time and money. I still make these meals for my husband and me, but I had to give up sweets, so I don't make the other things too often. My daughter now makes those for her children. The Applesauce Cupcakes recipe I had to make up because my daughter was allergic to sugar. The Soft Chocolate Cookie recipe I also invented because I didn't like the regular ones breaking. I use nothing else now, we got spoiled. My daughter also uses it often. I sure hope you will enjoy these recipes on to your children and maybe they will like them as much as my kids do. Most of the One-Pot Meals are quick and easy to make.
