

By Bizarre Hands

This collection of sixteen tales of horror and the macabre contains the kinds of stories one reads compulsively helplessly enthralled by their seductive allure, their perversions and truths, their violence and centered peace. The morbid curiosity you might not knowingly possess is unstoppably aroused, teased, provoked, and ultimately driven to a consummately satisfying, eminently unsurpassed conclusion of literary pleasure. Alternately terrifying and fascinating, this collection is more than a nightmarish excursion into the hellish simplicity of honest emotion and authentic humanity, full of the flashback persistence of unwholesome eroticism and an addiction to sin. It is also a furious wellspring of insight and virtue a painfully funny one, in fact, alive with the bittersweet irony that insinuates itself into so much of life and fiction alike. The stories included in this collection: Fish Night The Pit Duck Hunt By Bizarre Hands The Steel Valentine I Tell You Its Love Letter From the South, Two Moons West of Nacogdoches Boys Will Be Boys The Fat Man and the Elephant Hell Through a Windshield Down by the Sea Near the Great Big Rock Trains Not Taken Tight Little Stitches in a Dead Mans Back The Windstorm Passes Night They Missed the Horror Show On the Far Side of the Cadillac Desert with Dead Folks
