

Altered Course: Moscow Rewind (Altered Course Series Book 2)

The temporal wave originated in the United States and exploded across the globe, morphing matter and energy in its lightning-fast advance. Had the Russian Academy of Sciences not been flight-testing the Cosmic Wind eight days into the future, they would have never discovered the imminent, world-changing event. In eight days, the Russia they know will no longer exist. The Americans may have created the wave intentionally or it could have been an accident; there was simply no way of knowing from this side of the world. But with limited options and time running out, Russian President, Alexei Chernov, made his decision: a temporal invasion of the United States. His orders were to find the problem and correct it, whatever it takes. With the full resources of the Russian Federation supporting this critical mission, Major Konstantin Uritski and his hand-picked crew fly boldly into U.S. territory to begin their search for answers. Uncertain of what they are up against, will Uritski and his team overcome the obstacles in their path and restore the planet to its original destiny?
