Though Amoreena and the young child Cesa hold the secret to a cure for the deadliest plague to cross the globe in the history of mankind, implementing it will require tremendous luck and a Herculean effort. First, Amoreena and her companions must survive the long dangerous trek north to California, where Amoreena can access the technology necessary for her to pull off a miracle. Along the way, shell confront numerous challenges and obstacles, including battling the infectados, the mutant survivors of enfermedad del diablo, a race of post viron subhumans that threatens to erase three hundred thousand years of evolution. Shell need help. And shell find it in the most unexpected places and situations. But will Amoreenas luck hold out long enough for the salvation of mankind? Who will survive?
