

The Last Starship from 51 Pegasi D

The Last Starship from 51 Pegasi D--Going home is not an option. When planetary revolt and the collapsing interstellar Empire threaten to isolate three million colonists on Chrysaor of the 51 Pegasi system, thin resources can provide only a few vessels for loyalists to return to the safety of the Emperor's Law on Earth. As a result, not all who want to escape will be able to go home. The SS Atvadis will be the last starship to leave Chrysaor. Against this backdrop, the soon-to-be-ex governor fights to quell the ambition of a rebellious local general, who happens to be his ex-wife. The twenty-five year old exiled cousin of the Emperor unwillingly inherits the command of the local navy base when higher ranking personnel evacuate. And someone seeks to influence the outcome by activating a seventy-eight year-old sleeper assassin. The paths of these competitors intersect while awaiting the imminent departure of The Last Starship from 51 Pegasi D. BONUS: Three previously published short stories: Philosophy--You need more than luck to survive an interplanetary war. You need philosophy. His Brother was an Only Child--Nothing like the comfort of close family in difficult times. Hire Education--Behind on your student loan? Don't let them repossess your education. Genre: Science Fiction. Electronic-Length: about 32 thousand words. Cover Design and Layout by Patty Jansen
