

The Language of Power (Steerswoman Series Book 4)

A STEERSWOMAN ASKS, AND IS ALWAYS ANSWERED The steerswoman Rowan has learned much about the master-wizard Slado: how his spells are devastating the distant lands known as the Outskirts, and how they will ultimately threaten even the Inner Lands. But she knows nothing else about him, not even why he is hiding his actions from the other wizards. He must be found, and stopped. Now, following the slimmest of clues, Rowan arrives in the city of Donner hoping to learn more about Slados plans. But when the answers begin coming in faster than the questions can be asked, a strange tale from the past emerges, a tale behind all the secrets of the present... Fortunate that Rowan has the Outskirter warrior Bel on hand to watch her back. Because theres one sure way to know that the steerswoman is on the right track: Someone will try to kill her. The world Kirstein creates is captivating. -- Publishers Weekly If you havent read Kirsteins Steerswoman books I envy you the chance to read them now for the first time.... I think they have a very good claim to be my favorite thing still being written. [] If you like science, and if you like watching someone work out mysteries, and if you like detailed weird alien worlds and human cultures, if really good prose appeals... youre really in luck. Jo Walton, Hugo and Nebula Awards winner, author of Among Others and Farthing. [Kirstein] walks the tightrope between fantasy and science fiction with precision and grace... [her] compassion for even minor characters is evident on every page, and her prose is measured and alluring without being overworked. -- Damien Broderick & Paul Di Filippo, in Science Fiction: The 101 Best Novels 1985-2010 Kirsteins striking portrait of an innovative woman who is scientist, judge, historian, and adventurer makes for a good, thought-provoking read. -- Publishers Weekly
