

The Liberation of Ravenna Morton

Ravenna Morton is an Native American woman living a very old-fashioned life in a primitive cabin at the edge of the Kalamazoo River. Facing modern problems when her lifelong romance with a Greek artist is closely examined by their children after a child she gave up for adoption dies, The Liberation of Ravenna Morton captures the small-town dynamic of a familys private secrets being exposed to the world. A poignant look at the melding of two Americanized cultures observed under a microscope.
