

Gray: Part III (Volume 3)

Welcome to Idaho City The sign was metal, the words still visible through scorching that had happened during The Events long fire. The words spoke of the old days, seven months ago, when civilization was intact and the world robustly populated. The sign looked normal--or would have, had it not been for the pair of human feet attached over the first two words. The feet had been severed from their owner, and hex bolts were jammed between the metatarsals. Coral and Benjamin are starving as they flee from this sight. When they encounter scavengers a few days later, have they found food and salvation? Or is it another deadly trap? Gray, part III concludes the tale of post-apocalyptic survival. The series should be read in order.
